

Chad was born and raised in North Ogden, Utah, and his deep passion for his community is reflected in his photography. Specializing in landscape, Chad's photos of Mount Ben Lomond along with other local natural treasures captures the unique juxtaposition of quiet suburban life with the natural wonders of the Rockies. Beyond nature, cityscapes and wildlife, Chad's photos also often embody a sense of patriotism and dignity as he spends extra care taking photographs of events during Independence Day, Memorial Day, Veteran's Day and Flag Day. Along with bald eagles, F-35's and fireworks, he is also well-known for his dynamic photos involving the world's largest free-flying American flag, The Major. The only thing Chad enjoys more than taking photographs is the sense of joy his photos brings to people.
